Become a Global Leader

London School of Business and Research, UK is a truly global business school with international footprints in countries such as United Kingdom (London), India (New Delhi) and Singapore. The multi-cultural and multi-dimensional environment provides students with the knowledge, skills, attributes and networks - the global business capabilities which is required for leadership and success in demanding careers in the global economy and helps in fostering rigorous, relevant and innovative research on the dynamics of global business for students, business leaders and policy makers throughout the world.

London School of Business and Research, UK is at the fore front of Management Education globally. The institute is promoted by professionals who have worked at Senior Management positions at Nestle Inc. and who have studied at World's Best Business Schools such as Harvard Business School (USA), Kellogg School of Management (USA), IITs and IIMs. The institute provides the students with a perfect combination of conceptual framework and practical insight which is relevant for tackling real-world business problems. We also boast of a well connected Corporate Network of professionals from the industry. Their participation has given learning at the London School of Business and Research, UK a pragmatic approach with a clear business focus.

What makes us different

We start with an essential fact. There are neither enough formulas nor business cases to span the range of high-stakes decisions you'll face during your career. We seek to prepare you with knowledge, command of the relevant tools, and most important, the ability to think through unique problems, make decision and lead.

We leverage vital knowledge from sociology, psychology, economics, and other disciplines. Our routine of using such knowledge will become second nature to you. You'll draw on deep insights and instinctively press to make the 'best' answer to a problem even better. And in a world where many people will tell you what to think, you'll have the skills to encourage your colleagues meaningfully and productively, and will have the confidence to make great decisions that yield positive results.

Our lecturers, students and management share a common value system that underlines our teaching, learning, professional development and research. We are committed to fully support for you during your education and as a lifelong member of our LSBR community.

Vision

The Vision of London School of Business and Research, UK is to be pre-eminent business school, nurturing talent and advancing knowledge in a multi-national and multi-cultural environment

Mission

Our Mission is to provide our students with the knowledge, skills, attributes and networks - the global business capabilities - required for leadership and success in demanding careers in the global economy and to foster rigorous, relevant and innovative research on the dynamics of global business for students, business leaders and policy makers throughout the world.

Value

- To aim for Academic Excellence
- To foster Creativity
- To create Value
- Learning is a lifelong journey - so learn and give back to local, regional and global community

Three Locations - London, New Delhi, Singapore

When it comes to choosing a management programme, location can make all the difference. Our current campuses are situated in the booming high-tech city of London - the Capital of the United Kingdom and also at New Delhi - the Capital of India and at Singapore*. Here western and eastern management thinking and practice intersect and provide a dynamic opportunities for breakthrough thinking on strategies of tackling challenges and seizing prospects in today's turbulent business environment. The locations of our campuses are bang in the centre of the international hub of commerce where Fortune 500 companies and corporate headquarters of top corporates are situated. All these three locations are considered as the most exciting, culturally diverse cities in the world.

London is undoubtedly world's leading financial capital with nearly 2000 UK companies headquartered producing an aggregate market capitalisation of nearly $4 trillion. London is also home to world's top 100 companies, thus giving you a launch pad to shape your career.

London School of Business and Research also offers Executive Education at London thus giving an edge to global executives to gain exposure at an international setup. With the best professors in the business management education area, students are sure to be the winner at London.

Our Online Education courses are also second to none. The institute offers Ofqual accredited (Office of Qualifications and Examinations Regulation) courses. Ofqual is a non-ministerial government department that regulates qualifications, exams and tests in England and, until May 2016, vocational qualifications in Northern Ireland. Colloquially and publicly, Ofqual is often referred to as the exam "watchdog"
